Easy to do

Agree some actions using N/3

Voting to decide which ideas we will actually do involves understanding an idea before dismissing it.

Add up the ideas - Divide the number of ideas by three - Everyone involved gets that number of votes (N/3) – use counters of some sort

Everyone votes using only one vote on one idea

The ideas with the least score are given the chance to pitch and persuade to stay on the list

Ideas are removed and another round of N/3 voting is carried out

Repeat the process and end up with one or two top ideas

To help you select the best ideas and create a plan of action explore the downloadable resources for each theme.

Feed back – each of the themes can be explored further with films and activities and asks for feedback in various ways
